

A seer sole in a damp cave
Lapping at the brine within
Has visions of the here and now
And shares them with his twin.

No grave omens will he speak
No lies will this seer tell.
Under blanket of the night
Resting in his lidded cell.